Favors County's Raising
Bridges Which Canal
Would Make Necessary

County Commissioner P. O. Elder returned last night from Washington where he represented the Commissioners of Lawrence County at the hearing on the proposed Beaver-Mahoning ship canal. Mr. Elder and Commissioners Connors and Woods are doing all they can to get the canal, but they are opposed to the county's bearing any of the expense, except possibly the raising of bridges necessary to complete the work. This would probably only be the Hillsville bridge, it is likely that the Covert's station bridge would be abandoned, and the others are state bridges.

Mr. Elder presented a resolution passed by the commissioners which was as follows:

Resolution Presented
WHEREAS the president's program is confined to such public works as are essential to the country's welfare, as well as to that of the area to be benefited; and
WHEREAS the chief of engineers and the board of engineers for Rivers and Harbors have passed favorable decision on the improvement of the Beaver and lower Mahoning rivers as practicable, useful and important; and
WHEREAS the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House of Representatives of Congress has under consideration decision and ruling upon improving the said river channels for the purpose of slack water navigation from the valley steel making district to the Ohio river system; and
WHEREAS for more than a century it has been the established policy of the National Government to improve its inland waterways; and whereas, the improvement of the said rivers would furnish one solution

PA NEW C OBSERVES

According to the calendar, today is the first day of spring. Weather conditions are rather appropriate. Early this morning the sun was out, but later in the day rain threatened.

Dogs running at large are a source of complaint in many parts of the city these days. In the early spring the dog nuisance becomes more noticeable in this city, and a police campaign will probably be necessary to meet the situation.

The weather of the past few weeks has played havoc with many of the streets of the city, especially those that had not been ashed for several years.

The coming centennial of public schools in Pennsylvania should call for a special observance at the East Side school known as the Thaddeus Stevens school. This school was named after one of the men who had a large share in the establishment of the public school system in Pennsylvania.

There seemed to be an excessive demand for parking space downtown last night. It was exceedingly difficult to find a space where a car could be wedged in on any of the streets.

Pennsylvania Has Request
For $10,000,000 Of Federal Funds For Schools

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Plans for direct federal grants to state educational systems progressed today as a special house committee began drafting a bill which will provide nearly $100,000,000 to keep the nation's school doors open during the 1934-5 term. The states would not be required to repay the grants. Figures submitted by state superintendents of education show that more than $92,000,000 is needed for a normal term. This estimate is based on salary levels of the current school year, which are far below those of the years before the economic crisis. Realizing the hopelessness of attaining the salary levels in effect before 1930, public school officials are content to seek only enough federal funds to maintain operations on the present reduced scale.

The amount which will be recommended by the special committee has not been decided but it is believed it will be between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000.

The larger requests for government aid include Pennsylvania, $10,000,000; Ohio, $10,900,000.

IN SPY PLOT

New arrests in connection with the operation of a gigantic international spy ring have been made in Paris as a result of the confession of Robert Gordon Switz, young aviator of East Orange, N. J., and his wife, a former Vassar college student, shown above. The confessions are said to have been made by the Switz couple after fingerprints of Switz were found on "code films" allegedly dealing with the spy plot, and a lock of hair, admitted by Mrs. Switz to be one of hers, was found in a package of the mysterious films mailed from Switzerland.

PARIS, Mar. 21.—His examination of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gordon Switz, young Americans, concluded Andre Benon today turned his attention to other persons involved in the sensational international spy ring revealed by the Switz's reputed confessions.

Meantime authorities sought fourteen alleged spies for which warrants have been issued. Seventeen already are under arrest in what French authorities describe as the "greatest spy plot in history."

Magistrate Benon had before him today for questioning, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bercovitz, who have been under arrest since the Switzes were taken into custody last December. Bercovitz is said to be a Rumanian-born Canadian.

Many Implicated.
Bercovitz was co-director with Switz of the activities of the spy ring in Paris, according to information given Benon by Switz. He also is said to have been the agent of the ring in the United States before coming to Paris.

Besides Bercovitz and his wife, the magistrate also examined today Moise and Chana Salmon, a young Polish couple. They also have been under arrest since December.

Several of seven newly arrested following the Switz confessions also were given preliminary examinations today by Magistrate Benon.

McCormick Is Found Guilty In Auto Case

Convicted Of Involuntary
Manslaughter For Atlantic Ave. Accident

RESULTED IN DEATH
OF LEONA CWCYNAR

The jury in the case of James Oscar McCormick, charged with involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Leona Cwynar, in an automobile accident on Atlantic avenue, brought in a verdict of guilty as indicted.

The jury retired shortly after 2 p. m. yesterday after arguments by attorneys and a charge by Judge Chambers. The verdict was not reached until after court had adjourned. It was sealed and delivered when court convened this morning.

It was claimed that a car driven by McCormick struck Miss Cwynar, 23, while she was walking with her two sisters, Mrs. Stella Cichon and Miss Helen Cwynar on Atlantic avenue. While there were no witnesses to testify that they had actually seen McCormick strike the girl, the circumstantial evidence was very strong, as the car which struck Miss Cwynar was followed from the scene of the accident by another car.

The defense sought to show that dinges on the McCormick car were not made by the accident, but that the car had bumped into a fence while being driven to Aliquippa.

Would Regulate Nudist Colonies

(International News Service)
DOVER, Del., Mar. 21.—The house of representatives today was considering a bill which seeks to regulate nudist colonies.

The measure provides that such colonies cannot be located nearer than five miles to any incorporated city; that they will have to be surrounded by a wall at least ten feet high in which there can be but one gate or opening; that the inhabitants must be registered with the attorney general's office; that males and females be segregated and that children under the age of ten be prevented from entering the colony unless accompanied by their parents.

Oh, yes, and balloons or airplanes would be prohibited from flying over the colony at a height of less than one mile.

Detroit And Nearby Cities Given Respite In Strike Situation

DETROIT, Mar. 21.—This anxious city and its sister towns of the Michigan motor area, rejoiced today in at least a temporary respite from the threatened furies of industrial warfare.

For at least 48 hours more the wheels of the automotive industry will continue to hum.

During that interval, representatives of the motor manufacturers and officials of the American Federation of Labor will meet in Washington with President Roosevelt.

Prospects appeared reasonably bright that the dispute between the unions and the employers can be ironed out without recourse to a strike which would involve more than 200,000 workers.

The strike had been called for nine a. m., today. At that hour 50,000 union men in the auto factories of Detroit, Flint, Pontiac, Lansing, Cleveland and several other cities, were to lay down their tools, in protest against the refusal of the manufacturers to bargain with the Federation of Labor.

Spellers and those who think they can spell will assemble in the Shenango Township high school, Friday evening, to determine a county champion, who will be eligible to compete in the state finals at Harrisburg early in April.

This event has been arranged by county superintendent of schools John C. Syling at the request of spellers of the county who are anxious to test their ability in an old-fashioned spelling bee.

The state contest opens in Harrisburg on Wednesday, April 4, during the week commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the free public school system in Pennsylvania.

This contest is open to any person in Lawrence county who wishes to compete, the only requirements being that the entrant is not now in school as a pupil or teacher, and is an adult.

May Test Serum On 12 Convicts

(International News Service)
DENVER, Mar. 21.—The Colorado attorney general's office today studied the legal aspects of a plan to use 12 convicts in the state prison as subjects for experiments with a new serum designed to prevent tuberculosis.

The serum was developed at the National Jewish hospital here by Dr. H. J. Corper, research scientist, over a period of 15 years. It has been pronounced a marked success in preventing tuberculosis among animals.

The final test of the serum's effectiveness must be made on humans, Dr. Corper told Gov. Ed C. Johnson. The governor asked for volunteers in the penitentiary, promising clemency as a reward. Roy Best, warden, reported that about 800 prisoners had signified their willingness to be used in the experiments.

Treachery Or Devotion? New Mystery Is Shown In Snyder-Gray Case

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—There is a little bottle in a glass case at the police academy which contains the secret of Ruth Snyder's treachery or devotion to Henry Judd Gray, with whom she died for the murder of Albert Snyder, her husband.

What it holds, no one knows. That it holds anything of significance at all is revealed for the first time today.

The public has been trecking since 1929 to the crime exhibit at the police academy, has stared at the small sample Scotch whiskey bottle that stands with the picture-wire, chloroform rag, sashweight and photographs of Ruth in the array of what is left of the crime of the decade.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21. President Roosevelt moved forward today in his efforts to avert a strike in the automobile industry by inviting the manufacturers to the white house this afternoon for an initial conference. The strike called for today was postponed at the president's request late Tuesday.

Union representatives will be received by the President tomorrow, thus avoiding what promised to be an embarrassing situation over the reported unwillingness of the manufacturing group to hold a joint meeting.

Among the manufacturers who are expected to go to the White House are Alfred A. Sloan Jr., Walter P. Chrysler and Alvan MacCauley, president of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, to which all motor manufacturing companies except the Ford Company belong.

The labor group tomorrow is expected to include William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor; William Collins, federation organizer for the industry; Arthur Grier, John Bailey and one elected representative of each of the 13 unions engaged in the automotive industry.

WEIRTON DISPUTE IS TAKEN TO COURTS

Uncle Sam Nears Showdown In Case

Injunction Suit Is Entered In Delaware District Federal Court

OUTCOME WILL BE SIGNIFICANT

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Uncle Sam reached a showdown today with industries which refuse to follow out provisions of the National Industrial Recovery Act and the codes drafted under that law.

Suit has been filed in the Delaware district federal court to restrain the Weirton Steel Company, of Ohio and West Virginia, from violating the law, the code or from interference with the right of its employees for collective bargaining. Successful prosecution of this action virtually will mean that the position of the American Federation of Labor will have been firmly established and that employees will have the full right of electing whether they shall join the orthodox labor unions or the so-called company unions being promoted by many corporations.

Regarded As Important.
Many high officials held that the Weirton suit has brought about a situation that will determine the pattern of capital-employee relations for many years to come. For this reason the Weirton suit was regarded of highest importance since it will determine the validity of the labor clauses of the National Industrial Recovery Act.

The suit also will determine the standing of the National Labor board which attempted, without success, to bring about an election of Weirton Steel employees last December.

An election was held in December, but the government, in its petition filed in Delaware, asserted that the company, through coercion and interference prevented an election that represented the views of its employees.

Many employees of the company had joined the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers, an organization with which Weirton Company refused to recognize, according to the petition. This was held in violation of the code, the petition setting forth that the employees had selected their own representatives.

The message was not even signed with the August title "President of the United States." It bore the simple signature "Franklin D. Roosevelt."

It carried, in addition to the power of the federal government, the even stronger power of the workers' faith in the president.

Five hours later at Pontiac, seat of several great motor plants, 400 leaders of the unions agreed to accede to the president's request.

Throughout the night and early morning at the offices of the local unions their decision was ratified by the rank and file.

Boy-Friend Of Missing Girl Is Questioned

Leechburg Girl Is Strangely Missing; Two Brothers Are Implicated

WAS LAST SEEN MONDAY MORNING

(International News Service)

VANDERGRIFT, Pa., Mar. 21.—Pressing their search for a missing 15-year-old girl, police turned to a letter bearing the handwriting of two persons today prior to questioning her former boy-friend.

The handwriting on the letter received by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Forney, Leechburg, was not that of their daughter, Lilly, who has not been heard from or seen since Monday.

Edward Porter, 25, Vandergrift, was detained in Westmoreland county jail while authorities sought his married brother, William, 30, of Pine Run, for questioning.

Brothers Quarreled.
According to police Edward admitted he and the girl had a "date" Saturday night and went to Apollo where they met his brother. While riding in an automobile, the brothers fought and then William took the girl and drove away, Edward claims.

The girl's aunt, Mrs. Anna Sulz, Apollo, told police Lilly came to her home early Monday accompanied by William and two other men she did not recognize. That afternoon, she intended to visit a friend.

Sunday night the former sweetheart, John Sobey, 20, North Vandergrift, appeared at the Forney home and asked if Lilly had returned home, according to authorities.

Have Important Senior Play Roles

Marion Evans And Mary Miller To Appear In "Your Uncle Dudley"

Marion Evans has been cast for the part of Mabel Dixon Church in the senior high school's coming performance of "Your Uncle Dudley."

an early first in the series of June commencement events. Probably Miss Evans would not have elected to play the part of the unsympathetic and unyielding manager of three generations of the Dixon family, but Uncle Dudley had to have an unpleasant sister or there would have been no complications.

play. Mrs. Church is that necessary but unpleasant sister. Marion Evans plays the family tyrant consistently and effectively. Off stage her interests are chiefly athletic and she recently represented the senior high school at the "play day" sponsored by the department of physical education at Thiel college.

Miss Evans is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Evans of Boyles avenue.

Mary Miller is Grandmother Dixon, a spicy, old lady. Whether she nods in the midst of a family crisis or unexpectedly demands a singeing seat at the coming boxing-match or bestows a crushing rebuke on her middle-aged son, Uncle Dudley himself, she manages to be delightfully funny. Miss Miller makes grandmother a real person, quite an addition to the cast of this latest senior play. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Miller of Monroe street.

PRESIDENT SEEKS TO PERMANENTLY HALT AUTO STRIKE

plan to bring peace in the industry, Mr. Roosevelt said in his usual Wednesday press conference that he had no specific plan. His first job, he said, was to listen to both sides.

The President disclosed that he had received a further message from Collins, assuring him that the strike would be withheld until the outcome of the present efforts to avert it can be ascertained.

This assurance is considered to "freeze" the situation for several days at least, perhaps longer.

Collins' latest message said the workers appreciated the President's efforts to preserve the progress toward national recovery, and expressed confidence that he would act justly in an interpretation of section 7-A of the national recovery act. This is the section that stipulates that the workers shall have the right of collective bargaining.

The manufacturers, it is understood, will remain in Washington until after Mr. Roosevelt's meeting with the labor heads tomorrow.

Meanwhile, it was reported that Green is prepared to recommend to the labor representatives tomorrow that they temporarily surrender some of the demands that have been made on the manufacturers.

Two demands will be written into form acceptable to the manufacturers, providing for the formation of a grievance board to hear charges of discrimination, and for a method of electing worker representatives for the purpose of collective bargaining.

Before returning to Washington after a two-day conference with the auto manufacturers, Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson obtained assurances from the employers that they would agree to a form of these two demands, but they said they would not retreat further from their position.

ENJOYABLE TIME AT GALLAGHER HOME

An enjoyable evening was spent by O-Ki-Dok members Tuesday evening with Miss Anne Gallagher, a charming hostess at her home on Borough Line street.

Bridge was the popular pastime with Miss Betty Isaac and Mrs. Arthur Fulkerson winning high score awards. Special guests were Miss Mary Stinson and Mrs. Daniel Quinn, the latter being the recipient of the guest token.

At a late hour the guests were ushered into the dining room by little Marjorie Lou and Betty Miller where a table beautifully decorated in green and white colors was arranged. Luncheon was served by candlelight, the hostess' sisters being aids, Mrs. H. E. Miller and Mrs. W. L. Diamond and daughter Anna May Diamond.

Miss Betty Isaac of Reynolds street extended an invitation for the club to be her guests in two weeks.

Devotions were led by Miss Clara Corvey, followed by a very interesting missionary talk on Siam by Miss June Campbell.

The president, Miss Geraldine Fry, then took over the meeting and reports from the various committees were presented.

Mrs. C. B. Winger gave a very impressive installation talk and the following officers were placed into office for the ensuing year: president, Miss Ruth Forrest; vice president, Miss Lillian Campbell; secretary, Miss Clara Corvey; treasurer, Miss June Campbell, and press reporter, Miss Mary Spence.

Games were a diversion and prizes were awarded to the Misses Lillian Campbell, June Campbell and Clara Corvey. A delicious lunch was served in St. Patrick fashion later by the hostesses.

Installation of new officers featured the meeting of the Central Presbyterian church Westminster Guild Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Robinson, State street extension, with Mrs. Robinson's sister, Miss Margaret Lowery, and Miss Ruth McCafferty as the joint hostesses.

Lawrence County Federation Has Annual Meeting Tuesday

The weather man certainly put on his best face for the members of the Lawrence County Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday, for a more perfect day for the event could not have been chosen, and hundreds of club women of the city made the Highland United Presbyterian church their mecca as the annual county meeting was held.

The hostess clubs were the Circle of '34 and Current Events of '23 of which Mrs. W. H. Shipley and Mrs. L. G. Nail are presidents. The assembly room of the church was most artistically decorated with flowers and blossoms, with the large flag of Pennsylvania, with its blue background and state coat of arms forming a background to the speakers' platform. The flag was loaned to the Federation from the capitol at Harrisburg. Mrs. S. D. Pearson presided throughout the day.

A most spectacular opening was consummated at 10 o'clock, when the call to colors was sounded by a young sea scout as into and around the room marched a group of sea scouts carrying the flag of the United States, as Mrs. Jay L. Reed and Mrs. W. C. Eckenrood played "Pennsylvania" on two pianos. H. G. Horton led the assemblage in the pledge of allegiance, after which Rev. D. L. Ferguson, pastor of Highland church, gave the invocation, and the group sang "America."

A short business session was held, with the various officers in their chairs. The officers of the Federation include Mrs. S. D. Pearson, president; Mrs. Albert Treser, first vice; Mrs. Rankin Johnson, second vice; Mrs. Mont Aliey, recording secretary; Mrs. Norman Ehrlich, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas Elliott, treasurer and Mrs. Thomas Gilkey, parliamentarian.

Morning Speakers Mrs. Thomas Gilkey, parliamentarian, was the first speaker, having as her subject "Who Am I?" and she told the women just when a married woman should use her own name and when her husband's, in a business and legal manner. Her talk was most enlightening.

Miss Helen Grimes, former member of legislature and active in every progressive movement of the women of Allegheny county, spoke on "NRA and the New Leisure." She reviewed how the women of today had come out of the home into men's realm and assumed places in the world, how the NRA came along, with shorter working hours, creating more hours for leisure and she advised the women to make use of this leisure in advancing sports for themselves and cultural education.

The group then sang "America the Beautiful" with Mrs. George Westlake as leader.

Mrs. Josephine Kison of The News editorial staff then addressed the group on "The Club Women and the Press" ironing out some of the questions as to why articles of club activities are often "cut."

Mrs. Chester Johnston, chairman of the Drama department of the Congress of Women's clubs, and a playwright, spoke to the women on "The Possibilities of a Dramatic Club" and gave informative suggestions as to formation and carrying on of dramatics within the club life.

At 12:30 the women adjourned to the dining room of the church, which was beautifully decorated in green and white, with the table appointments suggesting St. Patrick. At each place a small corsage of "gum" flowers were placed, with the speakers' places. A most delicious menu was served by the women of Highland church.

Afternoon Session At 2 o'clock a most colorful costume recital was presented under the direction of Mrs. Jay L. Reed, president of the club. The first group included Indian dancers by Mrs. Robert Fleming, soprano, accompanied by Mrs. Reed; both artists were attired in Indian costumes, which added color to the beauty of the numbers rendered: "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water" by Cadman, and "Pale Moon" by Frederic Logan.

The next group included splendid piano numbers by A. A. Taylor, whose offerings were "Fantasia in D Minor" by Mozart; "Liebestraume" by Liszt, and "Scherzo" by Mendelssohn.

A Spanish group was then presented, with Mrs. James Hugh, contralto, singing "Estrellita" by Ponce, and "Habanera" from Carmen; she was wrapped in a gorgeous Spanish shawl and her hair was dressed with a high Spanish comb, carrying the picture of her Spanish numbers to the ideal of perfection; her accompanist, Mrs. Paul Welsh wore a red Spanish shawl draped over her afternoon gown.

A number that held the attention of the audience from the very first notes struck to the last, was the two piano number "Hungarian Rhapsody" by Liszt, played by Kathryn Nesbitt Allen and Mrs. Paul Welsh. Their technique was perfect and the blended harmony of both pianos in accurate rhythm sent a thrill through the audience.

Speakers Are Heard Mrs. Stewart McFarland, a red haired personality of vim and vitality, chairman of the literature department, spoke on "The Literature of the Club."

Mrs. Mary Geddis of Huron avenue was hostess to the 1907 club Tuesday evening.

Cards were played with pretty favors going to Mrs. George Woodring and Mrs. Frank Steckel. In serving lunch, Mary Louise Murphy assisted.

The next meeting will be on Wednesday, April 4 at the home of Mrs. Fred Beard on Ryan avenue.

"Kid" Party. Mrs. Swan's class of the First Christian church will have a "kid" party Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ralph Newingham, 1200 Highland avenue.

Piano Recital. Frank Taylor, Jr., will present another recital from WKBN, Youngstown, Friday, March 23, at 4:45 p. m.

RICH MEN WHO GIVE

IT has long been the fashion for certain writers and speakers to criticize the American people for their commercialism—their desire to make money.

While it is true that the mere making of money is not a very high ambition, it must be remembered that it is through our genius for business that we have been able to provide the funds for innumerable things worth while, such as are not enjoyed by any other nation in the same degree.

Great sums devoted to educational, religious, charitable and artistic purposes have been made possible through successful business pursuits. Scientific research, the advancement of health measures, better homes, and the comforts and refinements of civilization generally have been due to the ability of our people to acquire money and to their willingness to spend it for these things.

Most of the high-brow critics of business obtained their education at colleges and universities endowed and made possible by business men. Business and money-making are not the end of our national ambition, but the means whereby civilization may be promoted and preserved.

NOT PROPERLY THE ARMY'S JOB

Army fliers should be "organized, equipped and trained to meet any National emergency on twenty-four hours' notice," says General Foulis, Chief of the Army Air Corps.

Of course they should. But carrying the mails is a civilian, not a military, occupation. The Army is for defense, and so are the Army planes. For this purpose they should be efficient 100 per cent.

Specializing in mail carrying detracts from specialized training for military purposes. The Army and its fliers are intended for the country's protection. They can not be Jacks-of-all-trades.

THE SPEED OF LIGHT

Marvelous as was the discovery that sound impulses could be transmitted by telephone and radio, their mere transmission would be of little value if they traveled only with the speed of ordinary sound.

To illustrate: If one were in San Francisco and desired to talk to someone in New York, and had a voice loud enough to be heard that distance, it would take nearly four hours for the message to cross the continent—for sound travels only 720 miles an hour.

But fortunately, electrical and radio impulses travel with the speed of light, which for all practical purposes is instantaneous for terrestrial distances, or about 186,000 miles a second.

Incidentally, it may be mentioned that so far the longest combined telephone and radio conversation ever carried on by a regular toll customer was between San Diego, California, and Stockholm, Sweden, a distance of 8,630 miles. By special arrangement longer distances have been covered.

Many improvements in telephone and radio communications will be made in the future, but there will be no increase in speed. Always the sounds are transmitted with the speed of light, the speediest thing in the universe.

SPRING IS HERE

Believe it or not, Spring is here! Due today, safe and sound, although a little damp around the edges and inclined to be a bit wheezy on account of wet feet along the way.

Spring! How we love it! Season of renewed life and hope! There may be cold and blustery days ahead. Jack Frost may peck at the bursting buds! Ice may form and snow may fall in the North. Nevertheless, winter is over.

On the lawns in the suburbs the crocuses are peeping from the grass and the golden bell is getting ready to turn its long hidden hoard into the treasury of springtime.

All the world is putting off the old and donning the new. Our viewpoint changes with the season. Winter is a time of retraction. Spring is one of expansion. We who have weather the past winter may well expect to weather the next. We who have come through the trials and the tribulations of the months just gone may look ahead with confidence toward the future. It is always so in springtime. It is doubly so just now.

The future seems as bright as the past was dark. And so we rise in our place to propose three ringing cheers for the advent of spring, harbinger of summer, who comes with a song in her heart and a smile on her lips, symbol of renewed hope and good cheer.

DEATH OF JESS E. LONG

New Castle residents acquainted with the late Jess E. Long, a former New Castle man, will read with approval the following tribute to his life in the McKeesport News, the paper on which he served many years.

The McKeesport paper says: "A train speeding from the Southland to this city brought home the body of a man who was an outstanding citizen of the community. The announcement that Jess E. Long had succumbed to a heart attack in Florida came as a distinct shock to his many friends throughout the district.

"Mr. Long's fine qualities were perhaps best known to those, aside from his family, who labored with him in getting out the daily editions of this publication, which for many years he served as editor and manager. Intolerant as he was of injustice, fearless in attacking that which he believed was not for the best interests of the city, he never lost his tolerance for the shortcomings of those who worked under him. Newspapermen throughout this section of the state paid him the tribute which would have touched his heart, were he alive, when they said as they learned of his death: 'He was a real newspaper man.'

"Civic progress ever was uppermost in Mr. Long's mind. He gave ready support to any movement which would benefit the city. And he was just as quick to condemn that which he thought would be harmful. He understood human nature. He was sympathetic, but a man of conviction. He was a sincere character. He loved his family, and to the members of it the community extends sympathy. May they find comfort in the thought that his was a life of service."

Nothing destroys the memory of a man like doing him a favor.

Our idea of a modest man is one who can keep his opinion of himself to himself.

When the average man sets out to make a fool of himself he is using the cheapest material available.

What a world! Millions spent to kill crop pests; more millions spent to save farmers because the pests didn't destroy enough.

BABY IN THE GLASS

There you are, Baby—look in the mirror.
That's you. You with the pink cheeks, you with the laughing eyes, you with the one ear lower than the other, you with your hair sticking up in the air, you with the laugh and the grin and the chuckle, and you with the little hands, so big for a baby (father says you'll be a good shortstop some day), you with the kicking feet and you with the eager joy of being alive.

There you are—look at yourself. Look at yourself now, in the glass, as if you were somebody else, somebody you've never seen before and don't know at all. . . . Just another baby in the glass. Another human creature. Not at all mysterious. Not you. Nobody. Take a good look. . . . Time flies, small fellow! You'll grow, get ideas, discover yourself, and once you do you'll never see yourself in the mirror again. . . . So look your fill now. I'm warning you.

You'll have troubles and you'll have joys. You'll fall down and bump your nose and yell. You'll learn to fall down and bump your nose and take it like a man (or a brave woman). . . . You'll want something awfully and get it, you'll want something and NOT get it. You'll be humiliated and you'll be praised. You'll get into fights, you'll get through them. . . . You'll develop an "attitude" toward life, have opinions, prejudices, dreams, disappointments. . . . And when you look in the mirror then, you'll not see you. You'll be vain or you'll be humble. You'll see the human being you think you are, and that boy in the mirror may be less than he thinks he is or very much more. . . . I can't say about that. It's up to you.

So look your fill at that jolly fellow in the mirror. Shout, you little man. Chuckle, you blue jay. Grin, you Billikin. Stretch out your hands, small, inquisitive monkey. . . . No, no, don't hit him. Just pat him nicely, that's a good boy. . . . And make your parents laugh for joy of having a small fellow in the house who knows nothing of this world, that he cannot see and hear and smell and taste and touch—and loves it all, even himself in a mirror.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

MRS. GRUNDY SPEAKS.

Q.—What should a hostess say in greeting a guest arriving at a reception?
A.—Any casual inquiry like, "Was my husband over to Gus's when you left?" will do.

Q.—It is proper when shaking hands to hold the hands high?
A.—Not unless it is done to guard the chin in case the other guy should take a swing at it.

Q.—Should a man ever tuck a napkin in the top of his vest?
A.—Never. It should always be tucked in the collar, then he won't spill gravy on his tie, shirt, or vest.

PREDICAMENT
A most unhappy man I am
And so I sing this doleful ballad.
We should have had a crown of lamb.

With alligator pear for salad.
When friends are coming in to dine
She always lights the board with candles,
Gets out her stock of linen fine
And bouillon cups with gilded handles.

But to a plain, old-fashioned meal
We'd settled down and started eating.
Alarmed, I heard the door beel peal,
Then voices of a friendly greeting.
Oh, troubled little wife of mine,
Who could have dropped into the cellar.

I had invited them to dine
That night and had forgot to tell her!
Only a woman can relate
How horribly her nerves are shaken
When she must pass to guests a plate

Of liver and of greasy bacon.
Too late for alligator pear.
Too late to have the table set full.

What miseries a wife must bear
Who has a husband so forgetful!

The World At A Glance

Outlook In Industrial Centers
Where Chief F. D. R. Problem Lies
Man Of Street Supports President

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Staff Writer

CLEVELAND, Mar. 21.—These large midwest industrial centers still present a problem. In fact, before the conclusion of the present economic revolution, they are likely to present the chief problem.

Here it is where workers say their existence is at stake. Unorganized, they are likely to slip into interminable depths. Organized, they find industry more determined than ever to disorganize them—they say.

Costs rise, taxes rise. Living becomes a precarious experiment. It becomes intolerable.

On the other hand, large corporations cannot conceive foregoing profits.

The issue is sharply joined. There may not be the slightest bitterness over it. But there is certain to be evolution (not revolution) over it. They are trying to find a way out and maintain the profit system (organized capitalism) at the same time.

If that fails, it is conceded that President Roosevelt will have to re-begin, at fundamentals. This evolutionary period is a trying time.

STREET TALK

People here talk on the street concerning that. One hears constant praise for President Roosevelt. If the street and the home represent the true sentiment of the people, he is solidly there, even solidly there on his last visit to industrial centers.

A farm organizer on the train, however, said that farmers would wait only a little while longer "for the benefits for which they had hoped." He was speaking of the midwest farmer, whose grain and whose livestock remained a liability rather than an asset.

This organizer saw little permanent good from bounties and destruction of crops and pigs. He added: "The farmer's only hope lies in export and to export we must import goods. Will the industrialists permit that?"

Here, however, in Cleveland, great industrial center, where thousands of men still walk the streets although many plants are busy, there is a hope, seemingly, in every breast.

President Roosevelt is an idol—no, rather a god-like creature of spirited action. He is upheld every inch on the benefits for which they had hoped." He was speaking of the midwest farmer, whose grain and whose livestock remained a liability rather than an asset.

AUTO STRIKE
Several informed persons told me in Washington that they doubted there would be an automobile strike.

"This is the peak of the season," General Motors could not afford it," an informant said.

An interesting comment in this connection was made by Dale Cox, noted industrial observer of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, who said:

"An interesting conjecture about the threatened strike in the auto industry is what would happen to Ford in such an event. The dispute carried to Washington involved only General Motors units and the Hudson Motor company. There has been some labor trouble in the Nash plants in Wisconsin, but Nash was not a party to the Washington hearing. Ford's only labor tangle thus far occurred at the Edgewater (N. J.) plant months ago.

"One big factor weighing against a strike and certain to make General Motors more willing to compromise is the fear that a cessation of production in its plants would only give Ford a further advantage in 1934 production. Ford got away to a 1934 lead because of the difficulties others had getting their new model into production, and a strike now that did not include Ford would widen his 1934 production margin."

"Ford hurried back from Fort Myers, Fla., and restored his $5 minimum daily wage before his competitors could announce their 10 per cent reduction of hours and 10 per cent increase in pay. A strike would be unlikely to spread into the Ford plants. If it did not, Ford would profit at the expense of the rest of the industry. In the past, Ford has plagued the NRA, but now his position in the industry works toward averting a strike."

ROOSEVELT VIEW
One of the foregoing paragraphs speaks of evolution as against revolution.

President Roosevelt, prior to becoming president, said to me: "Evolution, not revolution, is the American method. And who can stop it, what politician with his empty phrases?"

The people in these midwest industrial cities seem to sense that.

ARE YOU A DICTATOR?
The children of a man who has not been successful in life, resent his positive instructions to them as to how they should conduct their affairs.

This score of reasoning comes as the children near the adult stage and are capable of passing judgment upon their parent's plan of life.

Many boys and girls leave their homes because they are so hampered in their desires that they feel they can be free only outside.

It is bit difficult for parents to accord their adult children the deference which should be shown their ideas.

As parents they feel that their longer experience in life entitles them to be dictators to their young folk.

Instead of making suggestions they present demands and ridicule divergent opinions which the young people may advance.

It's strange that parents, who are often liberal with their children in financial favors and in providing opportunities for their enjoyment, should be quite the reverse in plans they have for their general conduct.

After the age of reasoning with your children, be their confidential friend, not their dictator.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 21.

It's first day of Spring here, but in the Southern Hemisphere it is beginning of Autumn. In Persia, it is New Year's Day. In Catholic countries it is the feast day of St. Benedict, patron saint of the Benedictine order. The House rejected the resolution, voted a censure. Giddings promptly resigned, returned to Ohio, acted a vote of confidence, was re-elected by a larger majority, in five weeks again took his seat in the House.

Thus was pointed a way for members of Congress to give their constituents an opportunity to express themselves at the polls on current questions.

Mar. 21, 1918.—The battle of Picardy, first great engagement in which American units took part, began.

At 4:30 a. m. 4,000 German big guns barked along the Somme, heralding a storm which surpassed in destruction any other in the World War. By nightfall a German flood had inundated 40 miles of British front; a week later it had reached a depth of 40 miles and Germany was desperately near to regaining her lost, and best, chance of victory which her generals had forfeited in Sept. 1914 by their blunders.

In the "Good Old Days."—The New York legislature seriously considered in 1884 enacting a bill restricting building heights to 70 feet. A 15-story building was then being constructed in Manhattan and it was declared to be a menace to the health of the neighborhood by shutting out light and air. (The Empire State building is 102 stories, 1,248 feet high.)

Radio Talk

(International News Service)
UNTERHACHING, Bavaria, Germany, Mar. 21.—Inaugurating a vast public works program as part of a great spring campaign against unemployment, Chancellor Adolf Hitler in a characteristically stirring address today pledged his government to avoid inflation.

All of Germany quit its daily tasks for nearly an hour as Hitler, in an effective setting at the scene of the road-building projects, reached out to all parts of the country over a nation-wide radio hook-up with an appeal for support from every member of the third Reich.

"The money for this public works program will be raised in an orderly manner, without recourse to bank-note presses," he declared.

Free Workshop To Be Started At Y. W. Next Week For Men, Women

A free Arts and Crafts workshop will be instituted at the Y. W. C. A. from March 26 to April 30 for men and women, employed or unemployed, who are beyond school age, according to announcement today from Miss Marquerite White, general secretary.

Miss Frances Carlin, a graduate of Edinboro State Teachers college, has been secured as the instructor of the workshop, her services to be paid for by a government fund. The object of the workshop is to emphasize the importance of arts and crafts as leisure interests.

The workshop will particularly welcome the opportunity to assist leaders, teachers, recreational directors and club advisers, as well as those who desire the instruction for their personal use in re-arranging their homes, perhaps adding a few new touches to give home and studio a bright spring atmosphere. Individual problems will be studied.

Preliminary classes will be started next week, and will be selected from the subjects for which there is the heaviest demand. Those people who are interested are asked to check the study classes (listed in the appended coupon) which they are willing to attend. Return coupon immediately to the Y. W. C. A.

There will be no charge for instruction and in classes such as interior decorating, and landscape gardening there will be no outlay of money necessary. For classes such as basketry, etc., there will be a charge for what material is needed.

New Enrollment For CCC Camps

Men In Camp Will Be Permitted To Enroll For Another Period

Secretary Orville Potter has received information from the Veterans Administration that the Civilian Conservation Corps will be continued to the limiting date, March 31, 1935, as authorized by law, subject to the appropriation by Congress of the necessary funds.

The program provides for three separate enrollments, April 1, July 1, and October 1. Director Fochner has ruled that no man shall be eligible for reenrollment after he has completed a full year in the corps.

Vacancies which exist after the men in camp have been re-enrolled, will be filled by new men selected by state agencies designated by the Labor Department and the Regional Office of the Veterans Administration.

Veterans will be permitted to enroll if they are unemployed, have had service in the armed forces of the United States during a war period, are citizens of the United States, and bear an honorable discharge.

Local veterans who wish to enroll may secure further information from the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Is This Too Good for Your Cough?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven major helps in one—the best helps known to science. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist guarantees it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

Wives on budgets win campaign against costly STOCKING RUNS

One afternoon...

MRS. COOK (left): "Another stocking run? What a shame!"
MRS. POWERS (center): "Let's do something about it! I've been reading the ads about how Lux cuts down runs. Suppose we make a test!"
MRS. DEKLYN (right): "I'll try anything—stocking runs ruin my clothes budget!"

A week later...

MRS. POWERS: "Yes, dear, I've been washing one stocking the Lux way and rubbing the other with cake soap. The one I rubbed with cake soap has a run in it already. The Lux one is still just like new! Lux is even better than the ads say. We've found a big economy secret!"

Next month

MRS. POWERS: "Haven't we had wonderful results? We all cut down runs— isn't Lux a big help to the budget?"
MRS. RISDON: "I knew Lux was good, but I didn't know how good till I made this test! I cut down runs 53%! An amazing economy!"

"We cut them down 50%"

says MRS. JOHN POWERS of Huntingdon, New York

Stocking runs—how they "run" into money, upset careful budgets! Read how Mrs. Powers and her friends solved this bothersome problem!

"A group of us decided to make a simple test with our stockings," says Mrs. Powers. "We used the same kind of stockings, washed one with Lux—rubbed the other with cake soap. Then we kept careful records."

"By using Lux, we cut down runs amazingly. We had only half as many runs in the Lux stockings as in those rubbed with cake soap!"

Mrs. J. W. Cook, Mrs. C. C. De Klyn and Mrs. Charles Risdon, who joined Mrs. Powers in making this test, are just as enthusiastic. Try their plan—you'll be thrilled, too!

LUX cuts down runs because Lux is made to preserve elasticity, so the silk threads tend to give instead of breaking under strain. Avoid ordinary soaps with harmful alkali and cake-soap rubbing. They weaken elasticity. Lux has no harmful alkali—safe in water, safe in Lux!

WHY DARN MEN'S SOCKS?

Many housewives are now using Lux for their husbands' socks. These gentle suds keep socks new for longer—have money and hours of darning! Lux wool socks, too, in order to prevent shrinking and fading.

LUX saves Stocking Elasticity

Woman Gets Aid; Forced To Refund

MEADVILLE, Pa., Mar. 21.—A local woman has paid a bill of $102 to the State Emergency Relief Board because she secured relief for her family while carrying a "sizeable" bank balance, the Crawford county director, George L. Maxwell, said Tuesday.

No name was revealed as the director told how the woman's bank balance had ranged from $162 to $585 since last June, and that she had received regular relief orders until late last December. Then, he said, she was taken off the rolls because her husband had been given a CWA job.

School Centennial Will Be Observed

The week of April 1 marks an important anniversary in the educational life of Pennsylvania. It marks a century of free public schools in Pennsylvania and in every county in the state the schools and civic bodies will celebrate this historic fact.

Every school in New Castle will have some sort of program marking the anniversary, according to Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools. Here in New Castle there is one school named for the man who saved the public schools of Pennsylvania, Thaddeus Stevens. Stevens it was who turned the tide in favor of the public school system in the session of 1834 and made possible the splendid public school system we have today.

The free public school act had been put upon the statute books in 1834 and was hardly working when the session of 1835 met. Public opinion was against the idea to a large degree. Legislators were elected or defeated upon their stand in the matter.

The repealing act passed the senate and came over to the house. Here the bill was subjected to bitter debate and came from the Committee on Education. The speech of Thaddeus Stevens was a masterpiece of the historians state and it ended by the fervor of the address wavering members swept into line for the public schools. The bill was saved by a vote of 55 to 30.

Every civic body in New Castle will be asked to have a part in the centennial of free schools as will churches and fraternal bodies.

Mayor Tells Wolves About City Affairs

Mayne Is Speaker At Session Last Night In The Castleton

Mayor Charles B. Mayne addressed the members of the Wolves Club at their regular meeting Tuesday night, The Castleton.

David Valensi turned the program over to Anthony Marini, followed a delicious dinner. Mayor Mayne commenced his address by telling of the duties of a mayor. Being chairman of the finance committee, is one of the biggest tasks which confronts a mayor, Mr. Mayne stated.

"The city of New Castle today, has greater and better credit than any city in Pennsylvania including first, second or third class cities, to borrow money at a low premium. This is due to council and good office holders, which New Castle has been fortunate in having. City council is not lavish about expenditures," Mayor asserted.

He also cited the fact that in the past 26 months, every crime and robbery perpetrated in New Castle, has been cleared by the police department, which now is operating at a cost of $20,000 less than it did in previous years. The address proved most interesting.

Frank Summers also said a few words. Peter Capitola then presented a resolution of respect which will be signed and presented to the family of Pat Colucci, who was an active member of the organization and who passed away a few weeks ago. The gathering remained silent for one minute, as a tribute to the deceased member of the Wolves.

REV. PAULEY SPEAKS

A large crowd heard Rev. A. J. Paul, D.D., of Pittsburgh, deliver the fifth of a series of sermons, Tuesday night in the St. Joseph church on Jefferson street. "Catholic Catholicity," was the theme of the sermon, which proved most interesting.

Regardless of Price Judge the new FORD V8 on what it will do

Thousands of people who can afford to spend two or three times as much for a car, are today choosing the Ford V-8 for 1934, instead. Here are some reasons.

POWER. The Ford V-8 for 1934 gives you better than 80 miles per hour with the quicker acceleration and greater smoothness of an 8-cylinder motor. Power has actually been increased by 12 per cent over last year's model.

FREE ACTION FOR ALL 4 WHEELS. Note the flexibility of Ford Cantilever Spring Suspension. Here is riding comfort plus the proved safety of a front axle.

COMFORT. The Ford V-8 for 1934 offers more actual body room than many other cars that cost considerably more. It offers you new Clear-Vision Ventilation, with the window in one piece. It offers you free action for all four wheels—plus the comfort of Ford Cantilever Springs and the proved safety of a front axle.

SAFETY. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

ECONOMY. Gasoline economy is increased by two or three miles per gallon with the new Ford V-8. Test runs show that the new engine will give 20 miles per gallon at 45 miles per hour.

Camp Thomas Men, A Hundred Strong, Fight Timber Fire

Four-Hour Blaze Sweeps Mountain Near Camp; Foresters To Depart

By FRANK BOWES (Special To The News)

CAMP LOWELL THOMAS, C. C.

C. T. CROFT RUN, Pa., Mar. 20.—The first spring forest fire was fought by the men of Camp Thomas on Saturday afternoon. The fire alarm was sounded at 2:30 and lasted till 6:30. Over one hundred men answered the alarm and it required four hours to subdue the blaze. The high wind caused the fire to spread rapidly and the area that was burnt over was more than three hundred acres. The fire did no actual damage to the growing trees but burnt the leaves and dead stumps. Two crews had been working there in the morning and it is believed that the wind blew sparks from the burning brush piles into some dry leaves. Only the dampened condition of the leaves on top of the mountain stopped the fire from spreading over a much larger area and possible serious damage. The whole side of the mountain was burnt over. The fire was eight miles from camp and the men's appetites were increased greatly by the mountain climb and the lateness of chow. This was the largest fire the camp has had to fight so far. On Sunday morning two crews patrolled the fire lines till rain relieved them at noon.

Over 30 Percent To Leave.

March 15 was the one important day so far this year. On that date the roll call was taken to find out the number that was going to reen-list. Over thirty percent of the camp is leaving on March 31. Most of them are returning home with prospect of jobs. By the reaction of the men of this camp it seems that the financial condition of the country is improving. There are two rules on re-enlisting. Those who have put two periods in the camp only three months remain to serve as five yearly quarters are allowed a member. This ruling is to spread the benefits from the C. C. C. The second rule is that the captain and the superintendent of forestry agree on the members eligibility of re-enlisting in camp. If his work has not been satisfactory that member cannot remain. The camp deeply regrets the passing of one of its members from an unfortunate incident. A coroner's inquest showed the deceased member had an abnormally thin skull. Nello Collette the deceased died of a hemorrhage from a fractured skull. The unfortunate incident was from a boyish fistic combat.

An official order has been issued that no member will be permitted to operate his own motor vehicle.

Framed Holdup Man Jailed By His Wife

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 21.—Milton Eckles, 20, of Culmerville, recently recovered from gunshot wounds received in an alleged "framed" barbecue stand holdup, was ordered jailed Tuesday by Judge John H. Wilson on a charge of failing to comply with an order to support his family.

Witnesses said the youth left the jurisdiction of the Butler county court immediately after he had been directed to pay $3 a week on December 23, 1932, to his wife.

Life Span Longer, Lions Club Hears

Has Increased 18 Years In Half Century, Dr. Henderson Says

CLUB TOLD MODERN TREND IN MEDICINE

Declaring that the average human life span today extends 18 years beyond that of 50 years ago—the normal life expectancy has increased from 40 to 58 years in that half century—because of the everlasting combat which medical science has waged against the "scavengers of the human race," Dr. E. F. Henderson, local physician, recited most interestingly for the Lions club at luncheon yesterday the trend in modern medicine.

Cancer, Dr. Henderson told the club, remains the most dreaded of diseases while kidney diseases, apoplexy, heart disease and pneumonia continue to exact large human tolls annually.

Dr. Thomas Shaffer, member of the Lions, introduced Dr. Henderson after C. W. Herman Hess, representing the life insurance agencies of New Castle, delivered a message appropriate to Financial Independence Week, now being observed throughout America.

"Life insurance for many," Mr. Hess asserted during his talk, "is the only investment which stands unimpaired as a result of the depression." He said that today 95 billions of dollars of life insurance are in actual force, held by 63,000,000 policy holders. At the close of 1933 the combined assets of life insurance firms totaled 21 billions of dollars.

The Lions club will suspend its noon luncheon on Tuesday, March 27, and meet in The Castleton with the Ladies of the Lions that evening for a joint social affair. The party will begin at 8 o'clock, closing with a buffet lunch at 11:30.

Dr. Henderson's talk of yesterday, perhaps the most plainly spoken scientific message the club has ever heard, recounted how the obscure and partially crippled French doctor,

Pasteur, launched the research which produced for the benefit of the medical world and mankind the finding that bacteria produces all diseases. It recalled Pasteur's sacrifice, then told of the gradual scientific approach towards the discovery of immunizing factors in the cases of diphtheria and typhoid fever. And it brought from Dr. Henderson a tribute to the medical research of men who submitted themselves to "disease germs more potentially dangerous than dynamite."

Dr. Henderson said medical work today is progressing along two fronts, that of the individual doctor who works with his patients and that of the public health service which works with entire communities and states.

AROUND CITY HALL

Owners of gasoline pumps which are located between the curb and sidewalk and have not yet paid their license fee to the city will soon be visited by Inspector Henry Dysart of the city's legal bureau, council having instructed the legal department to collect the money. The action was taken following information from Neil Williams, engineers department, that several owners were trailing with their payments to the city.

Police chronology for 24 hours, ending 3:30 p. m. March 20, fourteen arrests, on charges as follows: Violation of parking law 8, drunkenness and disorderly conduct 2, drunkenness and soliciting alms 1, and suspicion 1.

A colored man a few nights ago swiped a bag of coal from a dealer's yard and was caught holding the bag by Patrolman Flegler. When the owner was notified he agreed to accept payment for the coal and the man spoken of, one Presley, was released. At a short time later the same policeman caught the same man swiping a second bag of coal. This time said colored gentleman was marched to the calaboose. In police court he was cross-examined by His Honor, the Mayor, and finally he said: "I've been here 19 years, Mistah Mayne and yuh don't know Ise neva stole nothing, but to be frank, Mister Mayne, Ise was stealing this coal to give to th' Reverend." The mayor laughed, then asked: "Presley, have you been also stealing chickens to give to the Reverend?" Presley gasped, then answered: "Lordy's sake, no, Mistah Mayne; Ise neva stole a chicken in mah life." He was held pending action by the coal dealer.

News from the department of city engineers stating that a permit for another gasoline service station has been granted for the North Hill recalls the Battle of The Hill, staged years ago. There was an unsightly appearing hole at Highland and Park avenues. Efforts were made to prevent the service station's construction. However, after the station was put up many people said it was far more acceptable than the hole. Later other stations were erected.

In the opinion of City Solicitor Robert White the new civil service law is unconstitutional and pernicious. In the opinion he also declared, council should name engineering and electrical department civil service commissions and added: "It would seem to me that it would be advisable for the council to provide the money and for the civil service board to provide the means whereby the board might set days for physical examination when all persons who have made application for any civil service position may appear and be examined at the expense of the city. Whereupon, if they failed in the examination they would be immediately excluded from further competition. In this way the applicant would be put to no expense and would not later complain because he had spent his money and did not get a job." He has recommended adoption of an ordinance whereby it will be necessary for the civil service board once each year to conduct an examination at which all members of the fire department eligible for promotion may appear and be examined; and thereafter any members of the department promoted must be promoted from the list of eligibles provided by such examination.

One often reads of a baby being deposited on someone else's doorstep and of later telephoning: "Look on your doorstep," and they find a chubby fisted, cooing babe. Visions of a baby abandoned worried Butler avenue-Ray street residents yesterday morning. They saw a basket filled with what appeared to be baby clothes. A telephone call told police that people were afraid to go near the basket because it might contain a baby. A policeman was dispatched to the scene. He found that the basket did contain clothing which had fallen from a truck. The persons who telephoned the police did the right thing. What if it had been a baby? In that case perhaps the tip might have meant saving the baby from death from exposure.

County Controller R. C. McCaslin, who has been laid up with a severe cold at his home in New Wilmington, is able to be back at his desk once more. Mr. McCaslin says he's glad that spring is just around the corner.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has issued a dog license to James Bathgate of Ellwood City for a dog 17 years old. This is the second oldest dog in the county, so far as the records of County Treasurer Pitts show. The oldest dog for which a license has been issued this year, was 18 years old. Mr. Pitts could not find the name of the owner today, but it is among the records. Mr. Bathgate's dog is a Rat Terrier, and during its seventeen years on earth it has killed several times its weight in rats. Owing to its excellent past services it is assured a happy home for the remainder of its natural life, whether or not it catches any more rats. Seventeen years is what might be termed a "ripe old age" for a dog. Few dogs live to be over twenty years of age, and when they get that old they are good deal like old people, rather stiff in the joints.

County Detective A. Sharp Leslie possesses two qualities that stand him in good stead in his official capacity. He is good at remembering names and faces. Once he gets his peepers on a man his brain seems to make a mental picture that cannot be effaced. This has been demonstrated time and again when he has recognized a man he has not seen for years. In the matter of remembering names he is also an adept. The way he can reel off foreign names, even those he has never heard but once, is uncanny. This was demonstrated one day this week when a reporter asked him for the names on a certain case. There were five, all names of foreigners, but Leslie not only remembered them but was able to spell them out. Abilities of people differ greatly on names and faces. Some people never seem to forget a face, and a name will cling just as tenaciously in another person's mind. But few people are really good at remembering both names and faces.

Nomination papers for Hon. Thomas W. Phillips, candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, were circulated at the court house this week and were signed by all officials to whom they were presented.

It must give the average man a good laugh when he reads that an American missionary is now on his way to work among the criminal tribes of Central India.

These sins are not deadly, say the professors, but some of them can get one into trouble.

JAPAN AND U. S. EXCHANGE "GOOD-WILL" NOTES

Seek To Create New Friendship

Also Preliminary To Discussions In Naval Conference Of 1935

SECRETARY HULL SPEAKS FOR U. S.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff
Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—An exchange of "good will" notes between the United States and Japan designed to create a new era of friendship in the Pacific, was made known by the state department today.

The exchange took place between Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister, and Secretary of State Hull.

Initiated by Japan, the move was believed not only designed to improve friendly relations but also aimed at paving the way for preliminary discussion of Pacific naval problems prior to the 1935 naval conference.

Sees Amicable Settlement.
Hirota expressed the firm belief that "no question exists between our two countries that is fundamentally incapable of amicable solution."

"I do not doubt," he added, "that all issues pending between the two nations will be settled in a satisfactory manner when examined with a good understanding on the part of each of the other's position, discussed with an open mind and in all frankness, and approached with a spirit of cooperation and conciliation."

"It is the sincere desire of Japan that a most peaceful and friendly relation will be firmly established between her and her great neighbor across the Pacific, the United States."

Hull Replies.
Hull, in concurring with Hirota that no questions exist between the two countries which could not be settled amicably, said he would be glad to receive through either the Japanese ambassador here or the American ambassador at Tokyo, "any suggestions calculated to maintain and to increase that friendly and cordiality which have constantly marked since the conclusion of our first treaty the relations between our two countries."

"You may," Hull added, "count upon my earnest desire to favor any measure or steps which may be practicable toward this end and toward fostering at the same time relations of peace, good will and general benefit among all members of the family of nations."

To Increase Naval Ratio.
Japan let it be known unofficially recently that it desires an increase in its naval ratio with the United States and Great Britain under the Washington and London naval treaties and would like to enter preliminary discussions prior to the 1935 naval conference.

Hull's belief that preliminary discussions are necessary to prevent the 1935 naval meeting from being a failure was made known by International News Service February 27. Japan considers one of her principal problems with the United States relates to the relative naval strength and the fact Hull expressed willingness to receive any suggestions the Japanese care to make led to the belief that the exchanges of notes are designed to pave the way for naval discussions.

Temporary Bridge For East Brady, Is Being Discussed

Temporary Bridge Will Serve Community Until Permanent Bridge Can Be Built

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 21.—Plans may be completed within the next two or three weeks for erection of a temporary bridge at East Brady to replace the structure that ice floes carried away last month until a new permanent structure can be built, officials of the State Highway department said today.

"We are making a study of the situation now to determine costs and procedure," said Samuel Eckles, chief engineer of the department.

It was understood here that a new bridge can be built at East Brady without an act of congress, followed by hearings before the Pennsylvania Public Service commission and the war department. Construction of a temporary bridge can proceed without obstruction. This span would carry traffic and eliminate the present 60-mile detour caused by the washout.

Second U. P. Congregation Will Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary In April

Fifty years of service to the city of New Castle will be completed in a few weeks by the Second United Presbyterian church and the congregation is planning to have a grand celebration in recognition of the fact.

A large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the church Monday evening and the first steps in formulating plans for the celebration were taken.

The general executive committee is composed of the pastor, Dr. C. K. McGeorge, George V. Campbell, George Wagner and Miss Jean Wimer, the secretary.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

South Entrance To Ward Is Being Enhanced By CWA

Small Park Materializing From Rough Strip Of Ground Near Here

The south entrance to Mahoningtown will be greatly enhanced by the completion of the CWA project that is in progress at the Moravia and Mt. Jackson road intersection. The work has been moving along by leaps and bounds in spite of the fact that the weather of the past two months has been anything but conducive to speed.

Many tons of fill have been dumped at this point, making the rough strip of ground located along the Mahoning river bank a level plain with promises of a park-like appearance. Stone from the Ray street quarries has been taken to the site and used in rip-rapping the river bank. The stone work has not been moving along very rapidly because of the sub-zero weather which has predominated on the March calendar.

Westminster Women Students Propose Own Rules To Faculty

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 21.—Self-government for women students at Westminster college will mean that the coeds will make their own rules and regulations, if a plan of the Campus Committee, present co-eds governing body, goes through.

The Campus Committee, working through a special committee composed of Charlotte Melhorn, Erie; Lillian Baird, Carnegie; Ruth Russell, Youngstown, O.; and Lucille Nevins, Greensburg, has drawn up a nine-point plan for organization. This plan has been accepted by Dean Mary E. Turner, and if plans work out the new organization for self-government will be effected this week.

The women students propose not only to make up the rules and regulations which govern their dormitory and campus life, but also to enforce the rules through a jury which will review each case and decide upon punishment for infractions.

Enthusiasm for the proposed reorganization marked the reception which freshman women gave the plan when it was presented last week, and the upper-class students are having dormitory and group meetings this week to hear the plan discussed. In all probability, all the women students will gather in a mass meeting some time before spring recess starts Friday to complete details of the new organization.

Pythian Sisters Attend Convention

Beaver And Lawrence Counties Join In District Meeting At New Brighton

Nineteen members of Castle Temple 37, Pythian Sisters, went to New Brighton Monday evening to attend and participate in the district convention of Beaver and Lawrence counties.

Exemplification of the ritualistic work by the members of the seven temples of the district occupied the afternoon, closing with the memorial service for all members who passed on during the past year.

Following a banquet at six o'clock the evening meeting opened with Mrs. Myrtle Hildebrand of this city, district deputy of Lawrence county, presiding, and there was initiation of Knights and Ladies by the officers of Castle Temple and the degree staff of Alma Temple, Ellwood City.

The grand chief, Rose Kyler, of Johnstown, was presented with a beautiful corsage tied with streamers of the Temple colors, to the end of each streamer a dollar bill being attached.

The success of the convention was due to the efforts of the three deputies of the district, Mrs. Myrtle Hildebrand, Mrs. Grace Laird and Mrs. Elizabeth DeGraw, assisted by an executive committee of two from each temple.

Seek Check Of Parrot Fever At Pittsburgh

City Council Will Consider Ordinance To Kill All Birds In Psittacine Family

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21.—Moving decisively to curb the spread of psittacosis, or parrot fever, authorities today were rapidly formulating plans to check the disease, which is believed to have claimed 10 lives in the Pittsburgh area.

City council this afternoon was to consider an ordinance requiring the killing of all birds in the psittacine family—parrots, macaws, parakeets and others—whether in homes or shops. Coroner W. J. McGregor, taking leadership in the battle away from Dr. Ray P. Moyer, city health director, suggested the ordinance and it will be rushed to completion.

Orders Birds Killed
Meanwhile Dr. Moyer issued an order to all pet shops to kill all birds now held under quarantine.

On the basis of Moyer's order came a resolution from the Allegheny County Medical Society requesting health authorities to furnish immediately "all available information regarding the present epidemic."

The resolution was passed after one speaker declared the present epidemic to be "probably the worst in history."

Dispatches from San Francisco reported that quarantine regulations in California were being rigidly enforced because of the epidemic.

Johnson is wise in asking for criticism. He knows Americans never do anything if they can talk their grouches off.

Electrician At National Tube Couldn't Eat Pork, Tomatoes Or Other Things Without Having Sour Stomach And Pains Says VENDOR Gave Grand Relief And Digestion Is Better Than In Years.

"Since I have been benefited so much by taking Vendol, my wife has started on it and also the little laxative tablets, and I know she will get the same good results," stated Mr. William D. Smith, an electrician working at the National Tube Company in Ellwood City. He was giving his experience to the Vendol Man in the New Castle Drug Company recently.

"My trouble was principally an acid condition in my stomach which caused gas, heart burn and pains. If I ate tomatoes they would sour in my stomach and if I ate pork there would be a burning sensation. It seems these gas pains would strike me about a half hour after I ate. My liver is also sluggish, making me feel drowsy and dizzy, and I was troubled with constipation all the time.

"I have always been a great person to watch my health and correct any little ailment that seemed to attack me, so I was looking for something for these troubles when I began reading about Vendol in the newspapers so decided to try this new medicine. It has proven to be just what I needed, having overcome all of these troubles.

"Since taking Vendol my stomach is in better condition than it has been for a long time. I eat hearty meals without suffering later from gas or sourness. I haven't had a dizzy spell lately, and my nerves have calmed down so that I get sound, refreshing sleep every night. I have never taken anything for constipation that acted as nicely as Vendol, and the Vendol laxative tablets. It gives me pleasure to recommend such a good medicine."

Make up your mind to begin taking Vendol and put yourself on the road to better health. Come to the New Castle Drug Company, 31 East Washington Street, ask for me, the Vendol Man, and I'll explain all about my grand medicine that is helping so many people right here in town and tell you honestly what you may expect it to do for you—so come today if possible. Vendol is sold also at the 24 North Mill Street store.

CONTINUE SAVING IN COURT SESSIONS

MERCER, Pa., Mar. 21.—The filling of the jury wheel for 1934 Mercer County courts has been reduced from a total of 800 names to 600. For the past two years the entire list has not been used due to the reduced number of court sessions. In 1933 the criminal sessions of four terms were cut in half making a savings of $5000 at each session.

Names in the jury wheel at the end of the year are left there. It is the intention of District Attorney J. W. Nelson to clean up on all untried cases at the March sessions with the purpose of eliminating court terms later in the year.

After Hiding For Nine Years In Tiny Attic Husband Must Answer For Wife's Murder

Mother Of Fugitive Pretended She Was Deaf So Charles Youngblood, Who Lived In Garret Above, Could Hear What All Who Called Had To Say

CHARLES YOUNGBLOOD

By EARL L. SHAUB
Central Press Correspondent

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 21.—After hiding for nine years in the attic of his mother's home, while officers scoured the country for him, Charles Youngblood, 39, will be brought to trial here this spring on a charge of murdering his wife, Ruth.

He passed the nine years in the little attic reading and trying to invent gadgets to make his mother's household work easier for her.

In order that he would know who was near and what was going on at all times, his mother pretended to be deaf so all who called at the house would shout at her and her son could hear.

Hears Last Rites
She was especially eager that he should hear the funeral services when his father died so all through the ceremony in the little parlor under the attic she continued to admonish the preacher:

"Louder, pastor, louder! I want to hear every word at this farewell for my loving husband."

So the preacher shouted the service and the unseen fugitive over his head heard as well as if he had been one of the mourners in the room.

In all his nine years as a hermit, Youngblood did not lose any of his vanity. He apologized for his appearance when the officers, acting on a tip, found him. He disliked the photographs made of him after his arrest and said:

"I know I'm not good looking enough for Hollywood, but I don't look anything like those pictures. They must have touched them up some to make me look that bad."

In addition to Youngblood's mother, Mrs. Tennie Youngblood, his 94-year-old grandmother also lived in the house, but she never knew Charles was on the premises, so well did the fugitive's mother keep her secret. No one knows whether his father, before he died, knew the secret, for neither Youngblood or his mother will tell that.

The mother is known as a charitable and friendly woman, always ready to help neighbors or strangers who are in distress.

Defense Planned
When Youngblood goes to trial, he will contend he was not in Nashville when his wife was slain and now, after nine years, information regarding the death is vague and possible witnesses have died or moved.

Relatives of the dead girl, however, persist Youngblood was not out of the city when Ruth Youngblood was killed.

Before his disappearance Youngblood was a mechanic. He is still interested in mechanics, so for nine years his mother has bought him hundreds of technical magazines so he could increase his knowledge and try to make small inventions.

That was his only pastime—that and smoking cigarettes which his mother bought for him.

WORLD'S TONIC IS WONDERFUL

Says Home Town Man, Amazed At Benefit From New Systemic Treatment

"I will frankly say the first bottle of World's Tonic didn't do my catarrh much good, but the way the second bottle has improved me is wonderful," a well known carpenter of this city told the World's Tonic druggist. He had just come back to buy his third bottle.

"Nothing ever helped me like World's Tonic, and I know this treatment is going to relieve my catarrh entirely," he continued. "What World's Tonic has done for me is nothing short of remarkable. I have had catarrh of the head for sixteen years. My eyes were nearly blind. I was ashamed to go near anyone. I had a constant ringing in my ears and if I caught the least bit of cold, my head was like an engine letting off steam. Dry scabs formed in my nose and caused me such distress that I had to be picking them out constantly. My eyes were infected, burned and became watery and got so weak I couldn't see the figures on my rule and square, without eye glasses."

"World's Tonic has helped every bit of this trouble. My eyes are stronger and I do not have the severe ringing in my ears is gone, my bowels and kidneys are now working regularly. I do not have the severe pains I used to have in my back. My breath is much better and I feel improved generally. Certainly I advise everyone suffering from catarrh to use World's Tonic because I have never found anything to equal it and I have been taking all kinds of medicines and treatment for sixteen years."

The druggist will explain this treatment to all callers. Sold at Eckert's, Paisley's, Smith's drug store and all other good druggists. (A-158)

Agitation Increases For One-Day Strike Of All Organized Men And Women

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 21.—Renewal of the struggle between organized labor and the E. G. Budd Automobile Body Manufacturing Company was foreshadowed today in the wake of the NRA-supervised employees' election that failed to attract voters.

Agitation increased for a general one-day strike of all organized working men and women as a gesture of sympathy with the 800 members of the auto workers' union.

Czechs To Fight Hapsburg Dynasty

Czecho-Slovakia Will Fight To End To Prevent Return Of Austrian-Hungarian Reunion

(International News Service) PRAGUE, Mar. 21.—Czecho-Slovakia will "fight with all the means at her command," the restoration of the Hapsburg dynasty or reunion of Austria and Hungary, Foreign Minister Edouard Benes told the Foreign Affairs committee of parliament today.

"We will never accept an Austro-German commercial union," Benes also declared. He added that Italy, Great Britain and the Little Entente also would reject such a union.

Italy's interest in Central European affairs, as indicated by the recent Italian-Austrian-Hungarian economic conference at Rome, is welcomed, Benes said, but he suggested the Geneva protocol providing a basis for the international neutralization of Austria as the best solution of the problem.

FORT MYERS, Fla., Mar. 21.—This is admittedly sheer supposition and probably I'm in bad taste in talking about it in the first place. Nevertheless, when faced with the not-too-painful necessity of committing a story about the Brooklyn ball club, it seems to me to be almost imperative that I tell the only story there is. It deals with one who is managing the ball club and another who would manage the manager.

In case the point is not clear, I'm talking about Charles F. (Casey) Stengel and Bobby Quinn. So far, all is deceptive tranquility. Mr. Stengel is being very earnest out there in front of everybody. He's the reformed comic who was brought in to run the club when Max Carey was unfrocked and is now so serious that he's thinking of hiring an assistant to help him worry.

Stengel Is Manager
As for Mr. Quinn, he's the business manager and there seems to be no doubt in his mind as to what that calls for. In fact, it's all very clear. Mr. Stengel is to have an absolutely free hand in running the club. Mr. Quinn being a bit broad minded about things like that. All he wants, it seems, is to run Mr. Stengel.

Mr. Quinn has even brought his ex-manager, Marty McManus, down from Boston with him but Mr. Stengel is being very deceptive and glib about that. Far from ignoring McManus, he's made him his friend and adviser. Somehow, I feel that Mr. Stengel believes that, if you give a man plenty of necktie, he's bound to have trouble with his adenoids.

That's about the only "heart interest" in the ball club. It finished last season with practically nothing. I suspect that it's starting this one with a little less. They still have the one-day pitching staff, Van Mungo. The others are Walter Dick, Ray Benge, Owen Carroll, Art Herring and Leslie Munns. Beck, Benge and Carroll might win. As for the other two, Herring came up from Beaumont via Detroit and Munns really looks the part down here.

Rookies In Good
The catching staff, Born Alfonso R. Lopez, will be with us almost any day now. While he's making up his mind, Ray Berres, up from Birmingham; Bill Outen and Clyde Sukesforth are obliging. Mr. Outen seems to be well named. He's on his way to the exit.

The infield is the same, Leslie Cuccinello, Jordan and Stripp, although they've been talking up John McCarthy, the Chicago semi pro, as the varsity first baseman. Personally, I think it can't be done. Linus Frey, still around from last year, and Jimmy Bucher, up from Greensboro, are making a play for one of the infield jobs, although Frey seems altogether too uncertain in the field.

Strong Outfield
The outfield, says Stengel, will be Frederick Koenke and Taylor, with Boyle in reserve and Glenn Chapman, from Indianapolis, having a chance. Koenke is the country boy who once came to the big city and failed but Mr. Stengel, in Jerry Mangin of the United States had to play a long time last night in New York before he turned back Christian Boussus of France in the international team matches, 8-10, 7-5, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2. The struggle lasted two and a half hours.

Musing, a 4 to 1 shot, and El Puma, favorite, ran a dead heat yesterday at Tropical park, Miami, which was one of racing's most unusual performances. It was the seventh race, a $700 claiming event for 4-year-olds and up over a mile and a sixteenth. First and second portions of the purse were divided.

Charlotte Glutting, New Jersey star, was medalist in Monday's qualifying round, entered the second round yesterday by beating Mrs. Karl Scheidt, Philadelphia, 4 and 3, in the annual women's North and South golf tournament under way at Pinehurst.

At Augusta, Ga., Bobby Jones paired with Ed Runyan took a beating from Paul Runyan and Horton Smith 6 and 5. Bobby appeared tired and was off line with approach. The Masters Invitation tourney starts Thursday.

A slice on a tee shot cost Aaron Sheinhart $100 according to Cleveland reports. He hit the ball at the Beechmont Country Club, Cleveland, in 1931 and it struck the head of a caddy standing on the adjoining fairway. The caddy sued for $2,000. A jury awarded him $100 yesterday.

Titan Players Pick All-Star Opponent Fives

Gribbs, Goldman, Birch Are Voted As Best To Oppose Westminsterites

JANOSIK IS ALSO RATED HIGHLY

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 21.—Having played three of the outstanding basketball teams in the country during the past season, Coach John Lawther's Westminster college players feel that in selecting their all-opponent teams they have chosen an outfit that ranks as a good All-American group.

Pitt, City College of New York, and Duquesne get the most places on the first and second teams as chosen by the Titans players, with Claire Gribbs, Pitt; Polly Birch, Duquesne; and Moe Goldman, City College, getting the most votes. Ochsenshirt, Pitt, and Janosik, Waynesburg, were not far behind in the balloting.

Teams as designated by the Titans are:

ALL-OPPONENTS

First Team
Birch, Duquesne, forward.
Janosik, Waynesburg, forward.
Goldman, City College, center.
Gribbs, Pitt, guard.

Second Team
Brenner, Duquesne, forward.
Feldman, Duquesne, forward.
Dietrich, St. Thomas, center.
Berenson, City College, guard.
Reiter, Duquesne, guard.

ALL-CONFERENCE OPPONENTS

First Team
Currie, Waynesburg, forward.
Ginsberg, Geneva, forward.
Janosik, Waynesburg, center.
Graham, Geneva, guard.
Littell, Geneva, guard.

Second Team
Pennabaker, Geneva, forward.
Solch, Grove City, forward.
Doepken, Bethany, center.
Deems, Grove City, guard.
Cox, Thiel, guard.

Moe Goldman was chosen as the best opponent the Titans faced all season, with Claire Gribbs and Polly Birch a close second. Joe Janosik, Waynesburg, was designated as the best conference opponent.

West Middlesex Has Good Record

Captures 'B' Championship Of District 10 For 1933-34

WINS ALL 'B' GAMES DURING FOUR YEARS

West Middlesex high school basketball five captured district 10, class B championship this season and according to A. L. Winters, supervising principal, West Middlesex has considerable to shout about inasmuch as the five has lost not a single class B game during the regular league schedule for the past four years, or since Pete Colodi, graduate of Duquesne and a resident of Butler, has mentored the quintet.

In fact, during that period West Middlesex has been tied only once. Forty games were played in the B schedule for those years and the only tilts lost were non-league clashes.

Twenty-four games were played in the 1930-31 season. Six were against class A teams and another an independent clash. Of 22 played in 1931-32, three were with class A and the following season of 21 games, nine were against A teams. Of the 23 during the past season seven were with class A teams and two county class B championships.

This season West Middlesex took the Mercer county class B tourney then played and defeated East Fallowfield, class B champs of Crawford county, North East, class B kings of Erie county, lost to West Middlesex on the Thiel college floor. Venango county had no class B champion.

Sharkey May Battle Hamas

Report Boston Slugger Ready For "Comeback" In Roped Arena

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—There is a distinct possibility that Jack Sharkey, the squire of Boston's Chestnut Hill, will return to the ring some time in the near future, Charley Harvey, manager of Steve Hamas announced today.

Harvey revealed he had received bids from the Boston Garden and Dick Dunn, a New England promoter, regarding a possible Sharkey-Hamas battle.

WILL THE "OLD MAESTRO" SHOW HIS 1930 FORM?

Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.

Much interest has been stirred up among golfers the world over on the possible comeback of golf's retired king, Bobby Jones. Jones is conditioning himself for the 72-hole masters' tournament at Augusta, Ga. (March 22), where he will compete with many leading professionals and amateurs. Enthusiasts of the sport are wondering if the Jones golf game, that won 13 major championships in eight seasons (1923-1930), will be as good as ever, or if the old master has slipped.

Will Sell Beer In Ball Park At Philadelphia, Pa.

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 21.—Beer will slake the thirst of baseball fans this summer at Shibe park, home field of the Philadelphia Athletics, if an application for a permit is granted.

City Treasurer Will Hadley today revealed he has received a request for a "malt liquor" license, signed by John D. Shibe, Athletics president, and "C. McGillicuddy," better known by his assumed name, Connie Mack.

The plan, it is understood, calls for serving beer to patrons in a huge room underneath the pavilion.

Foxx Hopes To Break Home Run Record In 1934

Jimmy Foxx Looking Forward To Coming Season; Will Try For Homer Record

By JIMMY FOXX
(As Told To Robert T. Paul)
International News Service Special Writer

FORT MYERS, Fla., Mar. 21.—This looks like my year to finally shatter that 60 home run record of Babe Ruth's. I know I said the same thing last spring, and I meant it then as I do now. Only I didn't figure to be laid up in a hospital for a week shortly after the season opened last April and be thrown off my batting stride for another six or seven days.

That early season spike wound ruined my chances of bettering the old Bambino's record. Going into June, I had made only six home runs. Then I got going and finished strong but the trip to the hospital was too big a handicap. As it was, I finished with 48 homers.

I figure I'm missing two real breaks right off the bat this year. Out in Chicago, the White Sox have shortened considerably the distance to the left field stands while in Cleveland the Indians are returning to their old park with a much shorter left field target for home runs.

Hopes For Record
Last year I connected for only a few homers in Chicago and Cleveland. The shorter fields will be a help to me now. If I can pick up three or four homers over last year in each park, I'll be sitting pretty in my efforts to raise Ruth's mark to 61. The ball is as lively as last year and will sail when hit.

I've been asked numerous times whether the departure of Bob Grove, George Earnshaw and Rube Walberg won't bother me. I see no reason why it should. I've been hitting against some nifty pitching in the American league and I don't expect Grove or Earnshaw or Walberg to show me anything I haven't seen before.

I'm going to use my light model bats again. They weigh 36 ounces. Believe it or not, I used to try to use a wazon-tongue that packed 40 ounces. I thought I had to use as big a club as could be found in the league to prove that I was the big strong Maryland farmer boy scribbles had painted me to be. Why, I even thought you had to use a top-heavy club to get distance! That was foolishness.

The end of the first half the Franklins led 16 to 7.

Stock Market Gives Unimpressive Account Of Itself In Listless Trading

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—The stock market gave an unimpressive account of itself in listless trading today with the main body of stocks moving lower.

Profit taking induced by yesterday's sharp reversal of trend following the president's intervention in the rail and auto labor disputes was particularly noticeable in the rail, auto and steel shares where losses ran to about a point.

The commodity markets turned irregular with wheat, corn and the other grains dipping moderately, while cotton gained about 25 cents a bale, and rubber from 7 to 15 points.

General Motors and Chrysler were again the targets for realizing in the motor shares losing more than a point each on a comparatively small turnover. Auburn, however, advanced slightly.

United States Steel dipped about a point and generally unsettled about the rest of the industrial list.

New York Central was the weak spot in the rail group dipping to within a fraction of yesterday's low. Other carrier shares were easier.

Utilities were quiet as were the oils, chemicals and specialties. Farm shares were easier in sympathy with Case.

Trading was slow.

Capital Stock Tax Is Urged

House Ends Consideration Of Revenue Bill; Senator Harrison Offers Plan

MAXIMUM ESTATE TAX ALSO URGED

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Replacement of all miscellaneous taxes by a capital stock tax was urged by Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, chairman of the senate finance committee, as that body today ended consideration of the house revenue bill.

The capital stock levy would be one-tenth of one percent on capitalization of all corporations and would yield about $95,000,000.

Harrison predicted that the committee would retain the house income tax schedules, after it voted down huge increases in surtaxes, proposed by Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin.

Income tax schedules provide a normal tax of four percent with surtaxes ranging from four to 59 percent.

Harrison also was to suggest an increase in the maximum estate tax from 45 to 50 percent.

Taxes on crude oil, proposed by Secretary of the Interior Ickes to check on tax evasions, and on coconut oil also were to be debated by the committee.

During the argument Liss is alleged to have stabbed Perovich with a knife, inflicting an ugly wound in the vicinity of the neck. Perovich was laid up in the hospital for some time.

Why Europe Fears Nazi Threat of Unification

This map tends to show why Europe statesmen believe that Chancellor Adolf Hitler of Germany will be responsible if a new war comes to Europe, and why Europe fears Hitler's program of unifying all German peoples. The figures shown in the various countries represent the estimate of German map makers as to the number of Germans in Europe—85,263,000. Foreign newspaper correspondents assert that there are enough Germans in each country—more than 20,000,000 outside of the reich—to cause diplomats to be deeply disturbed at the prospect that some day Hitler or someone else may attempt to unite all these Germans into one nation.

Engineers In Session Here

Large Number From Surrounding District At Meeting In The Castleton

ROUND SPEAKS OF DEVELOPMENT

Nearly two hundred engineers of Sharon, New Castle, Youngstown and Ellwood City attended the joint meeting of the Mahoning-Shenango Valley Engineers' society and the Sharon section of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers held at the Castleton hotel last night.

Speaking on the future of the Mahoning and Shenango Valley, L. B. Round, vice president and general manager of the Pennsylvania Power company, stated that without equivocation the future of the valleys depends on the development of our natural waterways. He spoke at length of the varied resources which have made possible the present important position the district has attained, but prophesied that future salvation lies strictly with the use of the rivers for hauling bulk freight. He praised the railroad facilities now available but lamented the fact that the canal development of 1830 had been allowed to be destroyed. From charts of population and industrial expansion he brought out how the last hundred years have seen steady growth until 1930 since which time the trend has been downward and the population dwindling. He pled with the engineers to be idealistic in their thinking for the future so that the natural resources placed here might be used for the greatest good.

Dr. Kent R. VanHorn, Research Metallurgist of the Aluminum Company of America, gave a very interesting lecture on the use of X-ray in industry. Showing slides, he described the apparatus necessary for taking X-ray photographs of various products. He then showed in detail the results obtained, illustrating how internal faults in certain airplane engine castings were detected and eventually eliminated. He showed many X-ray pictures of metal parts such as oil engine connecting rods, boiler welds, flange plates, automotive, etc., demonstrating how the radiographs save equipment from failure from flaws otherwise invisible and undetectable.

Entertainment was furnished by the vaudeville team of Lewis and Callotta during dinner and later by Koppel brothers and Frank DeLillo, soloist.

The program was arranged for and announced by E. L. Davenport.

MAIDS CHANGE NAME

The Merry Maids Circle of the Y. W. C. A. had a business meeting Tuesday evening and officially changed the name of the organization to the "Energetic Girls."

In the absence of the president, Miss Jennie Grestik presided. Plans were made for a mothers and daughters banquet on the first Tuesday of May.

Later basketball and bowling were enjoyed, with Miss Lillian Katila and Miss Josephine Srocynska in charge.

Twenty-eight girls are enrolled in the club.

These special Lenten services continue throughout the week. Dr. Baum will be present and preach again this evening, and the Intermediate choir of the church will sing. President's Order Limits U. S. Buying

Post Office Notified That All Bidders Must Show NRA Alliance

President Franklin D. Roosevelt, in an executive order issued Tuesday, rigidly restricted the government's buying to firms and companies complying with approved NRA codes or the president's re-employment agreement of last fall.

The post office, in a special issue of the Postal Bulletin, received the order today. In part it reads: "All invitations to bidders hereafter promulgated by or in behalf of any executive department or independent establishment or other agency or instrumentality of the United States, including government-controlled corporations shall contain a provision to the effect that no bid will be considered unless it includes or is accompanied by a certificate duly executed by the bidder stating that the bidder is complying with and will continue to comply with his approved code under the National Industrial Recovery Act, or, if no code is approved for his industry, with the President's re-employment agreement."

Administrator Hugh S. Johnson or his appointed agent is to be arbiter in case of dispute, it said.
